

Places in Indy to Get Low-Cost Dog Supplies

- Fly Repellent

Fly bites on your dog ears and nose are very painful and make your dog miserable. Fly repellent should be applied to your dog's ears and nose, wherever flies are biting, at least once a day.

- SWAT costs $9 for a large container and can be purchased at Tractor Supply Company on Brookville Rd, on the eastside of Indy, just outside of I465.
- "Fly's Off" has the same ingredients, cost a little more, and is available at most Pet Stores including Pet Supplies Plus at 62nd and Keystone.
- If you can't buy either of these repellents, apply a thick coat of petroleum jelly or antibiotic ointment. Petroleum jelly is very inexpensive and can be found in all drug stores.

- Flea Treatment

Biting fleas can make your dog miserable, give him tapeworms, and make him sick and anemic.

- The FACE Clinic (1505 Massachusetts Ave, 638-3223) has the best prices in town on safe and effective monthly flea preventative drops, Advantage or Frontline, at about $10 per month per dog.
- Wal-Mart carries lower-cost Sergeant's "Nature's Guardian" monthly flea preventative drops for about $2-3 per month per dog. Although these drops are not as effective as Advantage or Frontline, they work to some degree and are safe and cheap.

- Straw

Straw is the best insulation and bedding for your dog's house in winter. It also helps keep his living area less muddy in all seasons. The cost is between $4 - $6 a large bale at the following locations:

- ACE Hardware Store at 10th St and Arlington Ave
- Teds Feed Store in Beech Grove
- Habig's Garden Shop at 52th and College
- Dammann's Lawn and Garden at 8005 E 30th St
- Specialty Feeds at the intersection of Pendleton Pike and Post Rd

- Training Crates

Training crates are a great way to house-train your dog. Wal-Mart stocks training crates starting at around $35-45.

- Long Heavy-Duty Tie-Outs

It is illegal to keep your dog tied-out around the clock. But if you must tie your dog out for short periods, Wal-Mart carries 20 ft heavy duty-tie outs for $11.
